In the last century, women have come a long way from being housewives & mothers to being multi-tasking individuals able to manage both the home & the wider world of careers & opportunities. Not only have women held their own in a man's world, but they have enriched it in many ways. We as women have a core of compassion & understanding which has enhanced the quality of social interaction.

Women today are not only walking shoulder to shoulder with men but also providing a much-needed balance between the routine of everyday living and the joy of gracious living and interaction. Modern women are considered equal members of society with equal rights to opportunities, career, voting, and Inheritance & legal recourse.

Steps are being taken both by the government & NGOs to uplift the status of women. Government schemes like "Beti Bachao, Beti Padhao" yojana "Mahila Shakti" yojana etc. are aiming at abolishing social evils & protecting the rights of women. At an individual level, many NGOs are empowering their knowledge, training/education, skills technology & legal awareness.

The Anjuman I Islam's Polytechnic for Girls started with the purpose of developing the talent in women by improving skills & technical training in Fashion Designing, Beauty Culture, Preschool teacher's training and Computer. These are government certified courses & equip the students to become entrepreneurs & get jobs. This empowerment makes them confident, independent, self-reliant & employable. This makes their life more meaningful & brings self-respect and pride in their life.

The empowered women have gone on to become shining examples not only improving their lifestyle but transforming that of the entire family.

To name a few, there is Ms Sudha Murthy, Kalpana Chawla.

Women Empowerment

Women empowerment is a widely discussed term in today's society and talks about the upliftment of the female gender. First, it is a long-term and revolutionary protest against discrimination based on sex and gender. Women empowerment refers to educating women and helping them build an identity of their own.

In our patriarchal society, women are expected to mould themselves according to the wishes of the man who "feeds them." They are not allowed to have an individual opinion or an independent identity. Empowering women involves encouraging them to be financially, culturally, and socially independent. A woman must be entitled to pursue what she loves & develop into a fully functioning human. Her individuality must be nurtured and acknowledged. Women empowerment has led millions of women across the globe to pursue their dreams. They are steadily moving forward in life with strong determination, respect, and faith. Women also should be given equal rights like men to empower them. They need to be strong, aware & alert every time for their growth & development. The most common challenges are related to the education, poverty, health, and safety of women

Empowered women go on to empower others -so encourage the women around you, and make them feel special and strong. Encourage your friends to speak up & make sure they know the value of their opinions so that they're never scared to use their voice.

Women empowerment in India is required to overcome situations of such types and to provide them with their independent role in Indian society. Empowering women is a necessary right of women. They should have proportional rights to contribute to society, economics, education, and politics.

Home Care Routine for Hair

- The age-old traditional Indian method of massaging warm oil into the scalp is also very beneficial. You can use methi on the oil or else use almond oil or coconut oil which is best suited to any hair type.
- Wrap a hot towel turban style on your head to let the oil seep through. Wash hair, as usual, the next morning or 4-5 hours before the shampoo.
- Henna is also considered an excellent conditioner for a very long period.
- The proverbial 100 strokes a day may not be necessary, but the right brush and comb can make styling hair easier and improve its health and condition.
- Natural bristle brushes do the best job of picking up dirt and distributing oil along the hair shaft. This is great for dry and normal hair types, but natural bristles can increase problems for oily hair.
